George McGonagle, one of the Harri-nan engineers, was present, and brief-y explained that the Oregon Short Line. Union Pacific, Central Pacific and Union depot companies are now eady to construct a viaduct over their racks on Twenty-fourth street, 2,271 eet long by 50 feet wide, to cost 150,000, that besides that much needed purpowerent, the companies recover expending another $750,000 in Ogden in constructing a freight depot, storage buildings, building for employes' offices, new trackage, etc., and that they are ready to commence the construction of the viaduct just as soon as the city council grants the franchise to pecupy the street. He further stated that the railroad companies stand ready to may all damages to property which that the railroad companies stand ready to pay all damages to property which might be caused through the construction of the viaduct.

After the reading of the proposed ordinance, Judge Rolapp suggested that the ordinance does not provide for the running of any street car tracks over the viaduct, and offered an amendment, which was unanimously adopted, providing that two tracks might be laid over the viaduct by any street car or interurban railway company that might acquire a right of tracks over the viaduct, and offered an amendment, which was unanimously adopted, providing that two tracks might be laid over the viaduct by any street car or interurban railway company that might acquire a right of way.

Considerable discussion was indulged in as to the advisability of having approaches on Wall avenue from the morth and south onto the viaduct, and pany that might acquire a right of a motion to have these two approaches eliminated carried, but a few minutes later Joseph Socweroft came into the meeting and objected to such an action on the grounds that it would be very detrimental to the large wholesale warehouses along Wall avenue if these approaches are left off. A motion to reconsider the proposition was passed and it was then decided that a committee of five be appointed to confer with the city council and the railroad representatives on this proposition.

The next matter that came up for discussion was the necessity of the viaduct being extended east on Twenty-fourth street 238 feet from Wall avenue.

ty-fourth street 238 feet from Wall avenue.

General Supt. E. Stenger of the Rio Grande Western being present, speke on this point, stating that his company had spent upwards of $100,000 in securing property facing onto Twenty-fourth street with 256 feet frontage on which it was intended to erect a freight depot, and that if the viaduct was permitted to be run 238 feet east on Twenty-fourth street it would be rulaous to its proposed building site. He suggested that the height be reduced from 20 to 17 feet which would shorten the approach practically 100 feet.

All of these matters were thoroughly discussed, and on motion of F. 3. Klesel it was voted to notify the city council and railroad companies that the blue prints, etc., are satisfactory and urge that the work be pushed to completion with every possible haste. The chairman appointed F. J. Klesel, Joseph Scowereft, M. S. Browning, David Eccles and William Van Allon a committee to confer with the council on any details pertaining to the viaduct.

LOGAN SOCIAL NOTES.

Logan, Oct. 31 .- Of all the Hallowe'en Logan, Oct. 31.—Of all the Hallowe'en parties which were given, none was more successful nor jollier than the one held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Flemming and given by the U. A. C. Woman's club, on Thursday evening. The refreshments and decorations were strictly on the Hallowe'en order and splendidly carried out in every detail. The witch's dance, the ghost's stories, the Hallowe'en band and games all helped to make things as weird and hideous as could possibly have been wished for. have been wished for.

The home of Dr. and Mrs. I. S. Smith was the scene of a delightful Hallowe'en party on Wednesday evening which was given by the Daughters of the Pioneers. The rooms were most appropriately decorated for the occasion and the guests, who were all dressed in sheets and pilloweases, presented a ghostly appearance indeed. Hallowe'en games were played and an altogether enjoyable evening spent.
